

MEdia Journey Series

Who thinks up all those clever plots and catchy phrases? Who builds the cool websites? Who chooses the clothes for the fashion spreads? All those ads, too—that aim to make you buy, buy, buy! Who creates those?

Have you ever wondered how much of your life you're spending in someone else's reality? When you glance at a billboard, open a magazine, settle in for a movie, or surf the Web, you're really reading someone else's story. Using the power of girls, you'll work together to create your own MEdia message to break stereotypes and tell your story. But go behind the scenes to see how those stories get made, and you're bound to find some you'll want to change—to capture the real ME in media!
